

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

The Eighth Grade of '55, being sound and sane(?) of mind, do now will to the Seventh Grade of '55 the following items:

Tom Miller leaves his basketball ability to Larry Seiwall.

Carol Whipple leaves her love for reading to Peter Becker.

Paul Norbut leaves his height to Juanita. He also leaves his seat in the office to Linda Karr.

Dennis Bennett leaves his freckles to Lillian Kuchy.

Rachel Nielson leaves her short hair to Audrey Harvey.

David Reece leaves his seat by the door in English class to anyone who wants to get to lunch in a hurry.

Jimmy Reeves leaves his Southern accent to Dorothy Bateman.

Donna Spicer has decided not to leave her basketball ability to anyone until after the Alumni vs. Niagara No. 3 game.

Pat Sayers and Janice Engel leave their Saturday nights with George (Gobel) to anyone who doesn't have a date.

Carl Anderson leaves his brush cut to Frank Bruns.

Sandra Palmer leaves her gay, good spirits to someone who has just flunked a test.

Bob Kasprzak leaves his toothaches to anyone who needs an excuse to avoid a test.

Jean Krizan leaves her pony tail to Janice Z.

Davie Brown leaves his love for school to Jimmy Gatto.

The entire Eighth Grade also bequeath, freely, without any strings, their special tables in each cafeteria lunchroom, their last rows in the assemblies, and any gum under chairs in same last rows, if in useable condition.
